DESCRIPTION

The Personal Transformation Resource Center is a community level consortium of programs for individual and family growth. It is designed around the life growth process from conception to the death transition. The first of its two levels consists of programs designed to assist individuals in their growth process from awareness and healing, personality integration and creative expression on personal gifts, to manifesting one's life purpose.

Individuals, couples, families would be offered counseling and other support services along with programs: seminars, workshops, film - discussion series... A team of transformation professionals would provide a holistic support environment for a clients growth needs and goals.

The Transformation Resource Center would likely be at the Community Resource Center and might be as a conducted through those trained at the TLC Training Center working with the professionals in the Cooperative Multi-Service Office Building; (or the office building might begin from professionals coming together to offer the holistic service format suggested here). The Tranformation Center might be situated near the Spiritual Resources Center, Childrens Expressive Play Store thus providing an even more complete resource facility.

This center would collect resources helpful to individuals and families consciously transforming their lives and manifesting their visions. It would bring together in its own resource center with the books, tapes, films, videos, magazines most helpful to this process. In time it would compile manuals and books that fill in "what=s missing". A transformation catalog could be published listing these resources within the conceptual orientation of this multi-disciplined, holistic approach.

The Transformation Resource Center has a metropolitan or regional counter part that provides resources for individuals, families, groups, and organizations seeking transformation of their institutions and communities. Resources, services and programs would assist parents improving schools, parishioners helping their church, neighbors changing their community, people changing their work place. It would be a center to assist people manifest their collective dreams for changing or building newly their common environment.

(Below are sample resource development areas envisioned in another proposal, many years ago.)

I. LEVEL I - SELF TRANSFORMATION: UNION WITH THE TRUE SELF, WITH GOD

When a person begins the transformational process, the first level of education and training is explored through individual work. During this phase of unfolding, a person is encouraged to experience individual counseling and group work through one or more of the Transformation Resource Center's programs. The following is a description of potential self transformation programs listed in an ascend-ing order as they might be sequentially participated in.

Individual Work/Self Transformation Programs

A. Knowing Self: Assessment

- Life purpose/lessons and "essence" assessment
- Identifying limitations and blocks to unfolding
- Astrological and numerological charting
- Self-assessment questionnaires

B. Healing Self: Integration

- Healing services
- Spiritual and psychological therapy
- Body/expressive and therapeutic massage
- Personality integration and transformation

C. Being the True Self - Essence

- Soul infusion and Self realization
- Being the Priest/Priestess
- Being the Spiritual Warrior/Amazon

Being the Divine Mother/Father
Being the Divine Lover
Self as divine artist
Self as olympiad
Retreat Programs: Sweat Lodge, Vision Quests, Silence and meditation

D. Manifesting the True Self: Life Purpose

Center for Leadership self-management development
Center for Life Service Manifestation
Radiance: Center for Spiritual Leadership Development

II. LEVEL II - RELATIONSHIP TRANSFORMATION: THE LIFE CYCLE

These programs assist individuals at a particular point of transition or during a time of need or crisis in their lives. They are basically doors of entry for individuals with a strong impulse to seek out their inner self and purpose. The programs range from preparing for conscious child rearing, to preparing for the death transition.

Individuals in the Life Cycle: Relationship

- A. Center for Soulful Relationships
- B. Center for Family
  - Reparenting (healing our relationship to our parents as we seek now to become parents)
  - Conscious conception, prenatal care, and birthing
  - Conscious Child Rearing
- C. Center for Creative, Expressive, Heuristic Education
  - Early childhood education
  - Young adult education
  - Adult Education
- E. Mid-Life Transformation Center
  - (Empty nest experience, values reassessment, goal reevaluation)
- F. Center for Conscious Death Transition

Personal and Community Health Care Catalog

1. Overview explanation of the goals well being and principles of holistic health.
2. Presentation of holistic health modalities in a way to give people an understanding of how they fit along the body, mind, spirit continue. Use a chart like no-boundaries for psychological spectrum, so that the various approaches make sense for different dis-eases, treated for different causes, with different type of personal approaches to well being...
3. Present overviews to how a health person might live their life without fixating on health, thus making this practical for well being lifestyle.
4. Present overviews to the alternative treatment of disease, indexing diseases and claimed successes.
5. Provide an overview to a model community if it had all the holistic health resources available to neighborhoods, schools, clinics, hospitals, special treatment centers.
6. Provide listing of all products, books, tapes, magazines within each of these sections or in its own resources compendium. This catalog is a combination retail catalog and vision for personal, family, community holistic health.
7. Use the problem/vision, platform, program model for detailing a strategy for organizing around health care: schools, cable, holistic clinics, alternative health care team approaches, hospital gift shops,

(This vision is aimed at personal health care, yet still hints at a vision for holistic health care professionals and providers/

COMMUNITY AND NATIONAL HEALTH CARE CATALOG

This catalog is a continuation of personal health care and like its predecessor source catalog its format is on Problem, Platform, Program. Only the emphasis is on Vision - Interim Vision, Program.

A New Vision Model Environmental Research Center

Environment Resources Research

Sample Issues and Institutions for Locating Prototypes, Models, Innovations -

Possible Catalog Sections:

- G. Environmental Enterprise Development Center

The Model Environmental Catalog

The format would be 8 1/2 by 11 with each section beginning with a Problem, Platform, Program (Vision, Interim vision, Program) with material resource listings, which would be carried by our stores. It would include annotated descriptions of resources to assist people in implementing the visions suggested. Resources would include groups, prototype experiments, model policies.

Catalog Format

1. Overview of model programs at the neighborhood, community, county/metro level. Focus would be on the broad vision, the prototype policies and programs to implement the vision, presented with a sense of what it would be like to live, work, and play in this model, (make it real). Followed by general environmental resource annotations to take people a little deeper.
2. Special emphasis on economic benefits of programs: source point reduction, waste conversion, separated trash-weight, industries that make money by cleaning up, city programs to employ (FDR alphabet soup) people to clean up past mistakes (dumps). The objective here is to make the dream viable in reader/participants eyes.
3. Pie Chart of all programs followed by descriptions of each section including: PROBLEM, PLATFORM, PROGRAM. ...Listing sample groups agencies, businesses doing this already.... Annotating sample resources to assist.
4. Then summarize a methodology of how to get there from here. Starting with neighborhood groups to international agencies. Each tier should have its own insights and proposals for helping coordinate efforts and promote strategical cooperation.

Summary:

The catalog content emphasizes the relatedness of problems, unified platform of changes, a vision for what might be, and a program that could be implemented at every level of society. The emphasis is on describing resources showing the possibility of a new vision and a way of getting there.

Human Services Catalog

A Vision of Model Community Services
A Resource of Tools and Technologies

PURPOSE

1. Provide an annotated model of all the human services an average neighborhood could need, thus helping people visualize a model neighborhood.

2. Provide an overview pie chart presentation of all the services for a community (groups of neighborhoods), thus providing a larger picture of the resources, programs and services that could be available to a community to support the neighborhood programs. It would also demonstrate how neighborhood services could be supported by community centers. Also, how programs that only a few people need in one neighborhood could be met by the larger community.

3. Expand the community services model to a metro region where very specialized services and programs could be offered to support community needs.

4. Help bring to peoples attention all the types of needs their neighbors have from children with learning disabilities, to dysfunctional families, disabled, sick, elderly infirm and dying.

5. Provide a sense of what a model neighborhood and community could look like if we were to meet these special needs. This model would be placed side by side with the Neighborhood and Community Transformation Resource Centers, Human Potential Mall, etc. to demonstrate a visionary community dedicated to well being.

6. Present a model for how all these services could be fostered and supported in cooperation with: the recipients &/or their guardians, neighbors, schools, fraternal, professional associations, service organizations, city/state/county agencies, philanthropic, business and industry community outreach.

7. Provide a methodology, a strategy for building this model: Vision, Interim Vision, Platform, Program, Services and support center.

Community Resource Center

Model for Neighborhood and Community Cooperative Services

PURPOSE:

Design a model structure and methodology for working with all the service oriented organizations in a community to coordinate their efforts in serving a particular neighborhood. The intention would be to help design and participate in a model local neighborhood effort to identify and help meet the needs of its 'members'.

GOALS:

First, to insure that our neighbors-in-need were being cared for: sickness, emergencies, terminal illness, disabilities, family problems, job loss, elderly, shut ins, baby sitting...

Second, to create a model for cooperation among groups concerned with that neighborhood: fraternal and service groups, religious and charitable organizations, governmental and private social service organizations.

Third, to develop a methodology then for involving the neighborhood members in serving each other: special interest groups, block meetings, informal cooperatives (child care, bulk food co-ops), service projects, etc.

Fourth, create a vision overtime among neighbors for what that community could look like if we continued this cooperative caring over the years: a model neighborhood, "heaven on earth", true community in transient times, "if we can do this, could we then ..." attitude.

Fifth, continue working within the neighborhood this attitude of caring service and then expand to cooperate at the community/ city level. At first it may be that many issues will take the cooperation of neighborhoods working together to meet a larger need. For example in addressing the adolescent drug problem neighborhood might work with each other, the schools and local businesses for financial support to address this common concern. Just as families begin to care for each others needs, blocks come together, and in turn neighborhoods, communities, and cities. The model for involving families and their blocks can get expanded to serving the whole community.

METHODOLOGY

For example, the Cooperative Living Community or Cooperative Multi Service Mall would in its desire to provide service to those closest first would want to be involved in local neighborhood service.

1. So they might first identify all the church service projects in their neighborhood and see if these service committees could cooperate on common concerns. If shut-ins were a service concern then could all the religious groups make a group pledge, an individual covenant to identify all the shut-ins in the neighborhood/community and insure they had weekly visitors, holiday invitations, meals-on-wheels, counseling, library books, transportation to appointments, etc. As one common concern was cooperatively addressed then other projects could evolve, like meals on wheels, or the elderly.

2. Next the fraternal organizations and service clubs could united around their common concerns, like disabled people in the community or children with severe diseases.

3. Charitable and private social service agencies might work with churches and fraternal organizations, neighborhood groups to help with family problems, like safe houses, shelters, and emergencies.

4. At the next level governmental agencies could be organized to assist with the problems identified by the community organizations and neighborhood members: federal, state, county, municipal, & community.
